ABOUT ME

Software engineering and programming is one of my greatest interests and I am a very hardworking student. They include front-end development, theater activities, and IT and modeling courses. I have demonstrated the flexibility to work in new situations and task, which is crucial for my achievements in college and life. This is because I love to use technological skills and knowledge to solve practical situations and it is always encouraging to work with people with different skills in order to achieve a common aim. I am dedicated to personal and professional development, acquiring as many new abilities and mastering as many new technologies and effective interpersonal skills as possible.
